PLANT BABY SEEDS.

Kindergarten Children Are Learning How Dame Sature Produces Plants at Chace School.

The pupils in the kindergarten belonging to the Chace school and situated at Nineteenth and Locust streets are learning how Mother Nature produces a plant from a tiny, hard seed. They call it a buby seed with a smooth coat on, and when the buby begins to wriggle around and try to shed lis coat the plant is beginning to grow. They follow the whole process in this way. Their teacher, Miss Frances Judson, has fixed a box with one glass side. From an-

Their teacher, Aliss Frances Judson, has fixed a box with one slass side. From another large box, which is filled with rich black dirt, they, in turn, take handfuls of the dirt, crush it up fine and transfer it to the box with a glass side. When this is done they choose the seed baby which they wish to plant-corn, pea, bean or melon—and bress it into the damp dirt close to the glass side so that it can be seen. The box is set in the window where the warm you can shine upon it, and from day to day the children go to it and watch the little seed grow into a great plant.

There are thirty-five pupils enrolled in the kindergarten who have done some prettey work in map weaving, drawing and cardboard work. Miss Judson knows the mothers of all the tots under her care, as she believes that a kindergarter should be familiar with the home surroundings of the children she is trying to help grow into well rounded boys and girls. What is more boustin still, eight fathers of children attending the kindergarten at Nineteenth and Locust have taken time from the duties of the day to visit the children at their play. In this way both cable and electric cars will go to the depot, for the nearest and improvement of which plans will be made at once. All the work of rebuilding old and building new lines and vinducts will be under Mr. Walton H. When a young man asks a father for his daughter's hand in marriage, if the father is a wise one, he thinks of one thing equally as important as the young man's morals, social and business standing and intelligence. A young man who suffers from ill-health has no right to marry until his health is restored. To do so is to commit a crime against the human race. While all diseases may not be directly inherited, the constitutional tendency to acquire them is inherited. If a man is a consumptive, the chances are that his children will have weak, undersized lungs, and a predisposition to acquire the same disease.

It cure of per cent. of all cases when takes in time. It southes and heals the delicate and sensitive tissues of the air-passages and lungs, checks the cough, facilitates expectoration, drives out all impurities and disease germs from the tainted blood and builds new and healthy tissues.
